

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Bohdan Kovalchuk, who developed a Telegram booking system for PIZHON.99 Barbershop, with three locations in Kropyvnytskyi, Ukraine.

Bohdan handled the full development of a production-ready solution integrated with the Altego API. The system manages the entire booking process - appointments, rescheduling, cancellations, specialist selection, real-time availability, and confirmations.

He also implemented a loyalty and bonus program, automated notifications, and multilingual support. The bot sends confirmations, reminders, and follow-ups, greatly reducing manual work for our staff and improving customer engagement.

The solution works across multiple branches with shared logic and flexible configuration, keeping data synchronized with Altego in real time. It fully replaced our manual booking via phone and messengers and is now a core operational tool for our business. (Reference: https://t.me/pizhon99_bot)

Bohdan showed strong technical skills, independence, and a clear understanding of business needs, turning requirements into a stable, scalable solution with minimal supervision.

I confidently recommend him for projects involving API integrations, automation, backend development, or Telegram-based solutions.
